BACKGROUND SUMMARY

I started my academic career in the Department of Crop Production and Protection (Formally Plant Science) 1993, when I joined the Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Nigeria, as a Graduate Assistant and currently a Professor in the Department of Crop Production and Protection effective 2016. I have since then practiced as a Lecturer, Researcher and Consultant in the core area of Agronomy, with specific emphasis on Farming System. My multi-disciplinary research engagements over the years have led me to supervise and mentored a number of students at both undergraduate and post-graduate levels. I regularly attend National and International conferences. I have completed the responsibility of Head of Department of Crop Production and Protection from 2016 to 2016 and currently the Acting Farm Director of the Obafemi Awolowo Teaching and Research Farm from 2017 till date. Also I am currently involved in some funded researches involving sustainable farming System among small holder farmers sponsored by FORUM FOR AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH IN AFRICA (FARA). I belong to relevant professional bodies and also served on many Departmental and University Committees as Congregation Representative in Senate and member of search team for a new Vice Chancellor. I am married with five children, religious and sociable.
